1. KEY RESULTS OF THE EURASIAN PEOPLES' ASSEMBLY

2017-2021

The Eurasian Peoples' Assembly is an International Union of non-governmental organizations and citizens with an active life position, sharing and promoting the ideas and values of Eurasian integration, protection of peace, strengthening of friendship, harmony, partnership and good-neighbourliness among peoples. It is these ideas and values that are the top priority issues on the international agenda for the common future of humanity.

The Eurasian Peoples' Assembly implements diversified projects aimed at strengthening integration processes through peace-making dialogue, public diplomacy and cooperation with partners from different countries of Greater Eurasia.

People's diplomacy is a strategic resource for the development and cooperation of all States. Using the language of public diplomacy, relying on deep roots and national traditions it is easier to build bridges of understanding. Its effective implementation is intended to humanize international relations.

The sense of unity will enable the peoples to understand the importance of building a Greater Eurasian partnership together.

At the first stage of its development the Eurasian Peoples' Assembly built the structure of the organization, adopted the main documents, established the Eurasian Youth Assembly, approved more than 50 thematic projects of the Assembly, formed specialised councils in various areas on the initiative of the members of the Assembly, both in the economic and humanitarian spheres. Representatives of different countries of Eurasia carry out the specialised councils' and projects' activities. This ensures the international public support and interest of the Assembly participants.

During the reporting period, more than 800 individuals and legal entities, representatives of non-governmental organizations from more than 45 countries officially formalized membership in the Eurasian Peoples' Assembly: Austria, Azerbaijan, Armenia, Belarus, Benin, Bulgaria, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Vietnam, Germany, Greece, Georgia, Denmark, Donetsk People's Republic, Israel, India, Iraq, Italy, Kazakhstan, Cameroon, China, Korea, Kyrgyzstan, Lebanon, Lithuania, Macedonia, Moldova, Mongolia, Palestine, Russia, Republic of Abkhazia, Serbia, Slovenia, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, Turkey, Uzbekistan, Ukraine, Finland, France, Montenegro, Czech Republic, Switzerland, Estonia, USA.

The Assembly members are united by common goals and aspirations to make the world stable, free from war, violence and suffering; shared responsibility to history for the preservation of the achievements of predecessors; responsibility to the future for the preservation of the ethno-cultural identity of all peoples, spiritual and moral ideals and the transfer of social experience to future generations.

Mutual understanding among the peoples is possible with the acceptance and respect for the values on which the worldview of each of them is based. Intercultural communication, international humanitarian and economic cooperation help bring these values to the consciousness of people of other cultures and in forms that are better understood and accepted and most successfully carried out through.

Each event held by the Eurasian Peoples' Assembly carries a creative impulse, a peace-making message, the establishment of culture and the strengthening of friendship among peoples.

Ahead lies the further development of the Assembly as an important tool of public diplomacy in the conditions of building a multipolar world, the search for new innovative contours of the future broad partnership of the international community in the interests of sustainable development of mankind.

People's diplomacy is able to back up the promotion of a positive, unifying world agenda in action. Thanks to multilateral cooperation, the peoples of the Eurasian countries learn more about each other, realize their common origins. Only a joint search for new solutions, the strengthening and development of mutual contacts will contribute to the formation of a general atmosphere of trust on the continent.

FIRST CONGRESS OF THE EURASIAN PEOPLES' ASSEMBLY

Nowadays, public diplomacy becomes an increasingly significant part of international life that needs both - a comprehensive strategy and the creation of new institutions for the positive influence. One of such institutions is the Eurasian Peoples' Assembly, established in May 2017.

May 27-29, 2017. Russia. Moscow

The First Congress of the Eurasian Peoples' Assembly took place. More than 2500 representatives from 67 countries of the continent took part in the work of the Congress.

As part of the business program of the Congress, more than 40 dialogue platforms were organized, including plenary sessions, panel discussions, roundtable meetings, conferences, master classes, forums and thematic sessions. More than 130 speakers and moderators, including 53 foreign ones, took part in the deliberations and discussions. The focus of the meetings was on issues of economic cooperation, the interaction of peoples in the fight against terrorism, environmental priorities, the work of humanitarian missions, cultural cooperation, the development and support of new projects, the prospects of a one Eurasian information environment, the preservation of interethnic harmony, and much more.

The Constituent Assembly elected the governing bodies of the Assembly, adopted a number of fundamental documents, including the final Resolution and the Appeal to the heads of States and peoples of Eurasia, as well as to international organizations.

Within the Congress, at the solemn ceremony world public figures were awarded the Eurasian Public Recognition Award the "Envoy of Amity".

The cultural program of the Congress was presented by several interesting events: film screenings and meetings with the directors of the First International Film Festival "Eurasia: Territory of Cinema", a gala concert of the Eurasian Festival of National Cultures "Melodies of Unity", the exhibition "Russia Multinational" and "Eurasia - the Continent of Peace and Harmony", as well as the photo project "Children. Flowers. Life". In addition, the guests of the Congress became participants of the art campaign "We are for peace on the whole planet"; they were invited to leave their mark with paint on canvases. These paintings were donated to the presidents of Russia and Finland. The participants of the First Congress of the Eurasian Peoples' Assembly took part in a flash mob dedicated to the Day of Eurasian Integration. They sang the Anthem to the World by Ali Dimayev. The main words of this song "goodness will warm the world" were often heard at the Congress of representatives of non-governmental organizations of the Eurasian continent. The Congress was held under the motto "The future of Eurasia will be created together!"

Aware of the role of civil society and peoples' diplomacy in the development and strengthening of integration on the Eurasian continent, in creating a solid foundation for the future of the peoples of the most populous region of the planet, the participants of the Congress called the establishment of the International Union of Non-Governmental Organizations the Eurasian People' Assembly one of the promising forms of implementation of the social integration model.

Svetlana Smirnova, First Deputy of the General Secretariat of the Assembly of the Peoples of Eurasia, presented the Assembly of the Peoples of Eurasia and spoke about the first activities of the young organization and the tasks ahead. The speech of Prince Alexander Alexandrovich Trubetskoy was bright and interesting, he touched upon the history of Eurasianism, to which his family is directly related. As Alexander Alexandrovich noted, the very notion "eurasianism" was born by the Russian thinkers in the 20s of the last century. He reminded that one of the founders of the Eurasian movement was his uncle Prince Nikolai Sergeevich Trubetskoy, a famous linguist, professor of the Vienna University, and his associates were Russian thinkers L.N. Gumilev, P.N. Savitsky and many others. "Eurasianism, the "Assembly of the Peoples of Eurasia" movement takes on a new value. It is an opportunity to be the great binding force of our Euro-Asian continent, which is not divided by any oceans," Alexander Alexandrovich emphasized. The heir of a famous noble family, the Gascon, the Duke of Amery D'Artagnan, devoted his speech to the theme of the commonwealth of Eurasian peoples.

The evening ended with an excursion around the museum and a creative program in which the guitar, balalaika, and harmonica sounded, delighting and capturing guests from France, Russia, Kazakhstan, Germany, Bulgaria, Austria, Switzerland, and Serbia with their soulfulness. Russian folk songs, familiar tunes, gypsy romances left no one indifferent.

Days of the Eurasian Peoples' Assembly in the United Arab Emirates March 31 – April 6, 2018

April 1, 2018, the UAE, Ajman

Expanded round table “To the 100th anniversary of Sheikh Zayed bin Sultan Al Nahyan: experience of effective solutions in the field of forming of interethnic and interconfessional relations” was held on April 1. Svetlana Smirnova, First Deputy Secretary-General of the Eurasian Peoples' Assembly, opened the meeting. She noted that the year 2018 was announced in the United Arab Emirates as the year of Sheikh Zayd, the First President and founder of the UAE, and the Days of the Eurasian Peoples' Assembly are being held in the context of this anniversary date. The round table was devoted to the issues of consent, which are being successfully solved in the territory of the UAE, where representatives of many nationalities and religions live peacefully.

Secretary General of the Eurasian Peoples' Assembly Andrei Belyaninov gave the welcoming address. He emphasized: “The more often we will meet, the more we will understand and respect each other. The main thing is that we all should speak the same language - the language of truth, peace and kindness. We must make every effort to ensure that people are more happy and do not suspect each other of abominable behaviour and thoughts.”

The moderator of the meeting, president of the Eurasian Academy of Television and Radio Valery Ruzin acquainted the participants with the history of the UAE formation, with the activities of the first president Sheikh Zayd and the experience of his ethno-cultural national policy. The UAE has found an effective mechanism for solving inter-ethnic and inter-confessional problems, which can be expressed through the formula: national development supported by the key values, active participation of youth in the building a future in which everyone will be happy. The experience of building a stable federal state obtained in the UAE can be useful for other countries of the Eurasian space.

Ismagil Shangareev – Director General of the DAN Group of Companies (UAE), Dalbir Singh – Co-Chairman of the General Council of the Eurasian Peoples' Assembly, president of the Foundation for Political Decisions and Governance (India), D-r Mohamad Habash – Professor of the Abu Dhabi University (UAE), Zinovy Kogan – Vice-President of the Congress of Jewish Religious Organizations and Associations (Russia), Vladimir Iskhakov – Member of the Presidium of the Eurasian Academy of Television and Radio (UAE), Valeria Porokhova – Professor, Islamic scholar, full member of RANS, author of the translation of Quran into the Russian language and other well-known scientists and public figures took part in the discussion of the topic.

Participants of the round table unanimously agreed that the most important achievement on the path of interethnic and interreligious harmony is the harmony of human relations in all areas of state and public life.

April 1, 2018, the UAE, Ajman

“On humanitarian cooperation in the Eurasian space” - such title had one more roundtable, which was held in the framework of the theme devoted to the 100th anniversary of Sheikh Zayed bin Sultan Al Nahyan. Participants of the meeting - representatives of public organizations, business, culture, media – carried out a substantive discussion on the directions and ways of humanitarian cooperation among the peoples of Eurasia.

In the Assembly, such a form of interaction as a thematic project has developed. It is the joint project activity that generates interest and builds bridges of mutual understanding among peoples. All the speakers spoke about this.

Vladimir Iskhakov, Member of the Presidium of the Eurasian Academy of Television and Radio, presented two projects related to the visualization of historical processes on the continent of Eurasia. It was a scientific film-research of the mechanism of the successful model of the state structure of the United Arab Emirates and a reconstruction of the Great Silk Road on the Sea.

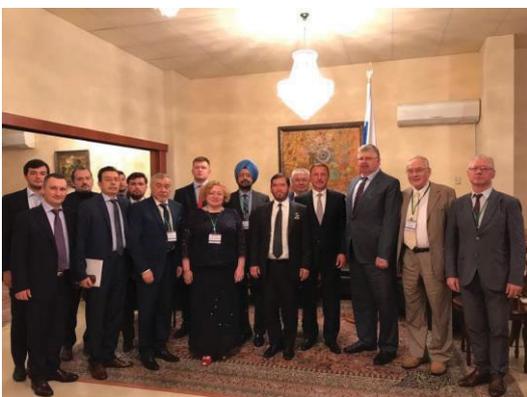

Ekaterina Kaznacheeva, Chairman of the Sports Council of the Eurasian Peoples' Assembly, presented a number of the sportive projects. Sport is a universal means of communication among peoples, a simple and understandable mechanism for peaceful interaction. Such projects as the Eurasian Games - Eurasics, freestyle Football Festival, Equestrian Sports Festival will contribute to the formation of healthy and harmonious society.

Mikhail Fedorov, Deputy Secretary-General of the Eurasian Peoples' Assembly, identified the theme of youth in the world community as one of the most important ones and told about the activities of one of the Councils of the Assembly - Euroasian Universities Association

Tabris Yarullin, Chairman of the World Forum of Tatar Youth, supported the theme of youth projects. Irina Darneva, Co-chairman of the Council on Spiritual Culture of the Eurasian Peoples' Assembly, generalized the concept of humanitarian development, having identified it as the achievement of common harmony of the coexistence of peoples.

In general, the round table discussion confirmed the orientation of the humanitarian development of Eurasian peoples from dissociation to peace and meaningful interaction.

The program of the festival included plenary meetings, literary forums, artistic and journalistic evenings, creative meetings and other events.

The Turkish writer Tugrul Tanyol was recognized as the winner of the Fourth Eurasian Literary Festival of Festivals “LiFFt-2019” (gold medal). The next V Eurasian Literary Festival of Festivals “LiFFt-2020” will be held in the country of the laureate – in Turkey. Olzhas Suleimenov, laureate of the Eurasian Literary Festival of Festivals, noted in his review of the past festival: “The IV Eurasian Literary Festival of Festivals “LiFFt-2019” gathered famous writers from many countries, even great poets from Colombia and Uruguay have arrived.

The name of the festival is associated with an elevator, a well-known lifting device. We are sure that such poetic “liffts” help to rise our literature, which is experiencing a protracted crisis. They remind new states of their guilt towards the book, which was thrown into the market as a commodity to compete with oil and gas. Still, the book will survive and will be in demand for generations. This idea was proclaimed at the meeting of poets in Azerbaijan, which was supported by the Eurasian Peoples' Assembly and the Heydar Aliyev Foundation. This Foundation has long made Baku the most hospitable city for the ambassadors of world culture! The theme of this festival was prompted by the poet Margarita Al - "Who is the man of the future? He is a Reader!"

The scientist and traveler planned to explore and promote the humanitarian aspects of the interface of the Chinese initiative "One Belt - One Way" and the EAEU. By his project, the scientist promoted the ideas and values of Eurasian integration, protection of peace, strengthening of friendship, harmony, partnership and good neighborliness between peoples.

Maxim Mikhalev traveled alone on a bicycle eight thousand kilometers from Moscow to Beijing in exactly 100 days. "Last year, I published at the "Nauka" Publishing House in collaboration with Vladimir Yakunin, President of the "Dialogue of Civilizations" World Public Forum, a book on integration processes in Eurasia, including the "One Belt - One Way" initiative - said Maxim Mikhalev. – Then an idea had arisen to look at the same problem from the point of view of a simple traveler and see how everything really looks like. As a result, the idea of such a project was born, that is a "bicycle expedition" to collect materials for the second volume of the book".

Maxim Mikhalev's expedition finished in Beijing on September 1. "There are quite a lot of conclusions: for a whole book, - said Maxim Mikhalev. – There are many unexpected observations that are difficult to generalize immediately. The main thing is that a bicycle trip as a method of scientific research, which has never been attempted, makes sense and, indeed, is justified".
